1. 5th & Adams Presentation

- Derek Gajdos, DPW Director

Tony McGhee, with Abonmarche, presented information about the historically high water levels and impacts felt by communities along the lakeshore. McGhee presented three options to resolve the high water impacts in the 5th and Adams neighborhood. Option one being a more permanent capacity fix, creating a storm water management system including a pump station and force main with the cost being $5.1- $5.3 million. Option two involves increasing storage capacity through either the acquisition of nearby properties in order to create a retention pond and/or rain garden or the installation of a cistern, with the cost being $2.5- $3.75 million. The final option presented was to continue pumping at an annual cost of $75,000- $125,000.

Council Member Scott inquired whether the third option would include a backup pump.

McGhee noted that the third option included one pump, but with a backup generator, acknowledging that additional pumps create additional cost.

Public Works Director Gajdos added that the life expectancy of the pumps is roughly 7 to 10 years.

Council Member Dora asked what Abonmarche has experienced with other communities and what actions they are taking to mitigate the high water issues they are experiencing.

McGhee explained that many communities are doing the same thing Grand Haven is or simply waiting it out.
